Rent a Virtual Risk Manager

Many organisations, with or without existing internal risk resources, have regular risk management requirements that don't necessitate the hiring of additional fulltime employees. In response to this need, TheRiskTower has devised what we call the 'Rent a Virtual Risk Manager' concept where our network of highly qualified, experienced and reputable risk practitioners are made available for an agreed number of days per week or month. The key benefits of renting a virtual risk manager include:

- Lower costs and improved efficiencies – Less travel time, project delays, and consulting fees. We will fulfill your risk-related function at a fraction of the cost.
- Unique insight and experience – The advantage of consultants in this role is their expertise and objectivity. The intention is not to replace in-house risk managers, but rather to provide expertise in certain areas and to complement the existing risk management staff.
- Wide or narrow focus – The virtual risk manager can work on a single project or across multiple projects or departments regardless of location.
- Ease of communication – The virtual risk manager can be reached on laptops, tablets and mobile phones at all times.
- Embedding risk management across the organisation – Having a virtual risk manager can act as an objective sounding board for strategies that aim to enhance organisational risk culture and maturity levels.
